

James J. Lynn
“Rajarsi Janakananda”
in Kansas City

The scriptures of India say that when a great master comes to the world with a God-ordained mission for the upliftment of humanity, he brings with him advanced disciples from past incarnations to assist his work. In a talk in 1942, Paramahansaji referred to this, saying: "A great saint in India used to cry, 'O my dear ones, where are you? Wherever you are, come to me.' And one by one they came as his disciples in this life. So it is with these close disciples around me: I knew them before... When I heard the name of Mr. Lynn I knew that I had known him before. I knew that such a one would be sent to me."

In a 1932 letter to ashram residents at Self-Realization Fellowship headquarters in Los Angeles, Paramahansaji wrote: "Lecture campaign work at Kansas City and meeting some of the most spiritual Yogoda students there has been one of the greatest happinesses of my life." Such was Rajarsi's receptivity that in that first meeting, in January 1932, the Guru was able to transmit to him the experience of Samadhi, ecstatic union with God. In a lecture in 1933, Paramahansaji said: "A wealthy Kansas City man, the first day we met, touched Christ Consciousness. His soul was ripe. When he received the Kriya technique he said, 'Life boils within my spine. That is the technique I have been seeking. I have found God.' He meditated six hours with me the first day."

Rajarsi Janakananda – A Great Western Yogi

WELCOME TO KANSAS CITY!

It was in Kansas City that James J. Lynn met his Guru, Paramahansa Yogananda in 1932. Mr. Lynn, or Saint Lynn as Yogananda often called him, was to become one of his foremost disciples and throughout his lifetime his business endeavors and financial success allowed him to play an instrumental role in placing Self-Realization Fellowship on a sound financial footing. He lived and worked in Kansas City for most of his life, and his body is entombed at Forest Hill Cemetery in Kansas City.

This booklet is intended to guide you in your pilgrimage to the sites associated with Rajarsi Janakananda and Paramahansa Yogananda. We hope that you will find it helpful as you follow in the footsteps of these blessed souls.

In divine friendship,

In January 1932, Paramahansa Yogananda spoke at the Athenaeum Auditorium for thirteen nights. James J. Lynn attended these lectures, and it was here that he first met his Guru.

Paramahansa Yogananda later bestowed on him the spiritual title and name of Rajarsi Janakananda and said that Rajarsi was a siddha yogi (a perfected being). The Guru said that Rajarsi advanced quickly because he knew how to listen. Rajarsi became SRF's President when Paramahansa Yogananda passed in 1952 until the time of his passing in 1955.

The Lynn Home
6440 Brooklyn Avenue, Kansas City, MO

The Lynn home site consisted of 100 acres of land, the largest estate in Kansas City. It was bounded by Meyer Blvd. on the south, 63rd St. on the north, The Paseo on the west, and Prospect Ave. on the east. The star on the map below indicates approximately where his home stood before burning about a year after his passing.

The front gateway, which still stands today, is located at 1800 E. Meyer Blvd. The fence surrounded the 100 acre property. This back gate, located at 6440 Brooklyn Ave. is about 100 yards east of where the main house stood.

Epperson House 5200 Cherry, Kansas City, MO

Mr. Epperson was greatly impressed with young Lynn, who bought Epperson Underwriting Company from him when Mr. Epperson wished to retire. Epperson Underwriting insured a nationwide empire of lumber yards started by R. A. Long of Kansas City. This business became Lumbermen's Underwriting Alliance, which is still a part of the Lynn Insurance Group.

U.S. Epperson left his mansion to James J. Lynn in his will. James Lynn donated it to the University of Missouri at Kansas City (UMKC) in 1943. This was during the years of World War II when space was needed to house Naval Cadets at the University.

Other Sites

R.A. Long Building – James J. Lynn’s company office – 928 Grand Ave., Kansas City, MO (northwest corner of Tenth and Grand Avenue).

Universal Underwriters Insurance Company (UUIC) – 5115 Oak Street, Kansas City, MO. UUIC was formed in 1922 with Mr. Lynn as owner, to insure auto dealerships nationwide.

Lynn’s nephew, Eugene Lynn and business associates dedicated the building to the memory of James J. Lynn in 1960. His likeness appeared in a plaque in the entryway. The building is now part of the UMKC campus and is the Administrative Center.

6400 Lewis Road in Swope Park – 15 acres of land was donated by James J. Lynn to the city to become part of Swope Park.

Research Medical Center - 2316 E. Meyer Blvd., Kansas City, MO – In the early 1950's Mr. Lynn sold the eastern part of his property for the research center.

Nazarene World Headquarters - 6401 Paseo – In the same timeframe Mr. Lynn sold the western third of his estate to the Nazarene Church.

Sertoma International and Foundation – 1912 E. Meyer Blvd. – Within a year of his passing, the Lynn family mansion burned to the ground. James J. Lynn’s widow built this smaller mansion to the south of the original home. After her passing in 1968 the home was acquired by Sertoma International and Foundation, a service organization which is there today. It is believed that the building sits in the middle of what had been Rajarsi’s private 9-hole golf course.

Prayer Tree - Behind Sertoma International is a pine tree that Sertoma officials call the Prayer Tree. In the past, Sertoma witnessed prayer services being held around this tree. This tree may have been on Rajarsi's private golf course. Perhaps SRF monastics or those that knew him personally made trips to this location in memory.

Contributions to the Community

In addition to his spiritual and financial contributions to Self-Realization Fellowship, Rajarsi also contributed greatly to the Kansas City community. He had no desire to be remembered and made no effort to receive recognition for his contributions. He gave selflessly and was active in the community in which he lived.

Some of his contributions to the community included:

- A donation of 15 acres of land to the city, which became part of Swope Park.
- In 1943 he donated the Epperson House to the University of Missouri Kansas City.
- In the early 1950s Mr. Lynn sold the eastern part of his property to the new Research Medical Center for well below market value.
- In 1969, at his wife's death, donations were made in his memory to University of Missouri Kansas City; Home of the Little Sisters of the Poor of Kansas City and Benedictine Sisters of Perpetual Adoration of Kansas City. Other donations included Youth for Christ Organization and Church of the Nazarene.

Some of his activities included:

- He had a 100 acre estate between Sixty-third Street, Meyer Boulevard and Paseo and Prospect. There he had a nine-hole private golf-course, a forest, orchards and vineyards. He loved the outdoors.
- His home included an elaborate system of lighting which was ahead of it's time and included the ability to light his practice golf course.
- He was a banker and large stockholder of the Union National Bank as well as being a member of its board of directors.
- He was a director of the Kansas City Southern Railroad and the Peoples Trust Company.
- He served on the Kansas City park board and was a member of the Kansas City Club, the Kansas City Athletic Club, Mission Hills Country Club, Blue Hills Country Club, Automobile Club and the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

"The balanced life of Mr. Lynn may serve as an inspiration for all men! Conscientiously discharging the duties of his worldly life, Mr. Lynn yet found time daily for deep meditation on God. The successful businessman became an illumined Kriya Yogi."
